Excerpt: . . . 11 data entry can result from insufficient training as well as other factors, such as caseworkers hesitation to ask families for sensitive information, difficulty balancing timely data entry, time spent with families and children, and caseworker turnover. The Department of Health and Human Services tests State data quality and provides the results, as well as the data testing software, to States to help them identify and correct inaccurate and incomplete data. In addition, the Department of Health and Human Services provides technical assistance to States through its central office, contractor, and resource center staff to help States address abuse and neglect, foster care, adoption, and other reporting problems. Despite the Department of Health and Human Services assistance, States report ongoing challenges in receiving clear and documented guidance, and obtaining timely technical assistance. Further, although States were mandated to begin reporting data on foster care placements and...
