The column was formed at the Home at 11. 30, and with the Colonel and Colonel James Blake at the head, escorted by the regimental and Halms hands, marched up Washington street to East, and back again to the Home, where a bountifnl dinner was served by the ladies. It was partaken of by the regiment with a quiet satisfaction very becoming and gratifying to those who served it. The marching of the regiment through the city attracted attention, particularly for the manly bearing and handsome dress of the men, and the excellent condition of their arms. After dinner the regiment again marched up Washington street, countermarched, and went to the State-house, where a large number of citizens, mostly ladies, had assembled to hear the welcome of the Governor, and other speeches. Governor Morton, in his address, said: This reception was given as...
