Writing with Authority: Students Roles as Writers in Cross-national Perspective (Hardback)

By David Foster

Southern Illinois University Press, United States, 2006.
Hardback. Book Condition: New. 221 x 145 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Writing with Authority: Students Roles as Writers in Cross-National Perspective offers a comparison of student writers in two university cultures - one German and one American - as the students learn to connect their writing to academic content. David Foster demonstrates the effectiveness of using cross-cultural comparisons to assess differences in literacy activities and suggests teaching approaches that will help American students better develop their roles as writers in knowledge-based communities. He proposes that American universities make stronger efforts to nurture the autonomy of American undergraduates as learner-writers and to create apprenticeship experiences that more closely reflect the realities of working in the academic community. This comparative analysis identifies crucial differences in the ways German and American students learn to become academic writers, emphasizing two significant issues: the importance of self-directed, long-term planning and goal setting in developing knowledge-based projects and the impact of time structures on students writing practices. Foster suggests that students learn to write as knowledge makers, using cumulative, recursive task development as reflexive writing practices. He argues for the full integration of extended, self-managed, knowledge-based...
